

FUTURE OF BOND ISSUE TO COME UP

City Council Tonight Will Decide
What Steps Should Be Taken
After Tax Board Ruling

SUM DEMANDED CUT IN TWO

Not Believed That State Board Would
Approve Bond Issue to Erect New
City Building

The future disposition of the bond issue will be taken up tonight at the regular meeting of the city council, following the decision of the state board of tax commissioners Saturday, when they reduced the proposed issue more than one-half.

The city councilmen had expected to obtain $30,000 for improvements, including $12,000 for a fire pumper, $5,000 for repairs on the city hall, and the balance for other proposed expenditures, including the payment of notes borrowed from the banks.

The decision of the tax board granted $14,500 approving the purchase of the fire truck and allowing money for the laying of a water line from the mill race to the business district to be used in case of fire down town.

The council has been considering the proposition of completely tearing down the city hall, and issuing a bond sale to cover the expense of building a new city hall and city office building to house the various departments.

A building such as they would need, could not be erected for less than $50,000 or $75,000, and probably a bigger light than ever would be launched against it. If the council expects to take such action, they would drop the present bond issue and embody the expenditure all in one.

The contention of persons acquainted with the status of the affair, is that the council had better accept the decision of the state tax board now, and issue the bonds for $14,500, remodel the building from money in the general fund so that the building can be made safe, and then in some future time make the appeal for a new building.

Although the state tax board in their opinion stated that it was throwing $5,000 away to repair the city hall, yet it does not mean that they would approve the bond issue for a new building. The ruling of the board might reverse itself if the city attempted to build a new building, and then nothing would be left to show for the legal fight.

Some of the councilmen, it is understood, are ready tonight to go through with the $14,500 bond issue, buy the new fire truck, make the minor repairs to accommodate the truck, and let the future troubles take care of themselves, which after all is believed to be the logical position to take in the matter.

TIMELY AID SAVES LOCAL BOY'S LIFE

Curtis Jones Sinks Three Times at
McCoy's Lake Before Being Rescued
by Companions

WENT IN FOR LAST "DIP"

Timely aid by two unknown heroes saved Curtis Jones of Rushville from being the first victim of drowning at Lake McCoy Sunday, according to the Greensburg News. The paper says regarding the near tragedy as follows:

Jones in company with two other companions, had been visitors at the resort all day and had been swimming during the afternoon. His companions had previously gone to the locker room and Jones was left in the water for a last "dip" before coming out.

It is thought that the young man suddenly took the cramps and he immediately sank. He went down three times before help reached him, two small boys aiding him until the boat which was hastily summoned could reach the strangled boy.

Resuscitating work was immediately applied by a doctor from Cincinnati who happened to be present and it was twenty minutes before the water was removed from the lungs and Jones regained consciousness.

He was released, according to the paper, upon promise to return Monday and pay a fine of $1 and costs, and at noon today he had failed to appear, it was stated in that city.

DISCUSSES HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

Tracy Ellis of Indianapolis News
Says That It Is Taken Too Much
For Granted

A MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

Tells Rotarians of Country Press
Value—James Lowry Speaks Briefly
on Landscaping

The home town newspaper is taken too much for granted, Tracy Ellis of the advertising department of the Indianapolis News, told the Rotary club at the noonday luncheon today. "We grew up with them," he said, "but suppose no newspapers would come to or be printed in Rushville tomorrow," and Mr. Ellis then pictured what the conditions would be without newspapers.

Other guests at the meeting were James Lowry, a member of the Indianapolis Rotary club Frank Cannon of Greencastle and William Sparks of this city.

Mr. Lowry, who is an expert at landscaping, in a brief talk presented some of the elements in beautifying homes with shrubbery and flowers. He also gave the Rotarians some valuable information regarding the development of lawns.

If we are going to know our community, we must know what is going on and be alert, Mr. Ellis said.

"Fortunately for us," he continued, "there is an agency that gathers and procures for our minds the happenings of mankind in all of his phases of life and offers this information to us daily or weekly in the form of the Home Town Newspaper."

"We take our newspapers for granted—we grew up with them—but suppose tomorrow no newspapers would come or be printed in Rushville and the day after and for a month no news would reach your city. Some of you would be in a nervous state, possibly in financial difficulty, you wouldn't know very much to talk about and the day of the group around the corner grocery would revive and flourish. Go down in the backwoods of Kentucky and ask the first ten men you meet who is the President of the United States. Their answers will be replies of people without newspapers."

"A week ago a boy in Washington became very sick with an infected blister on his foot and in three days he was dead. His father was President of our country and on account of the father's high position, the news agencies and the newspapers played it up heavy. One hundred and ten million people knew that evening that Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was dead. They knew it in California before he was dead in Washington. News beat the flight of the sun. Over fifty thousand messages of sympathy followed the news of this death to that sorrowing White House."

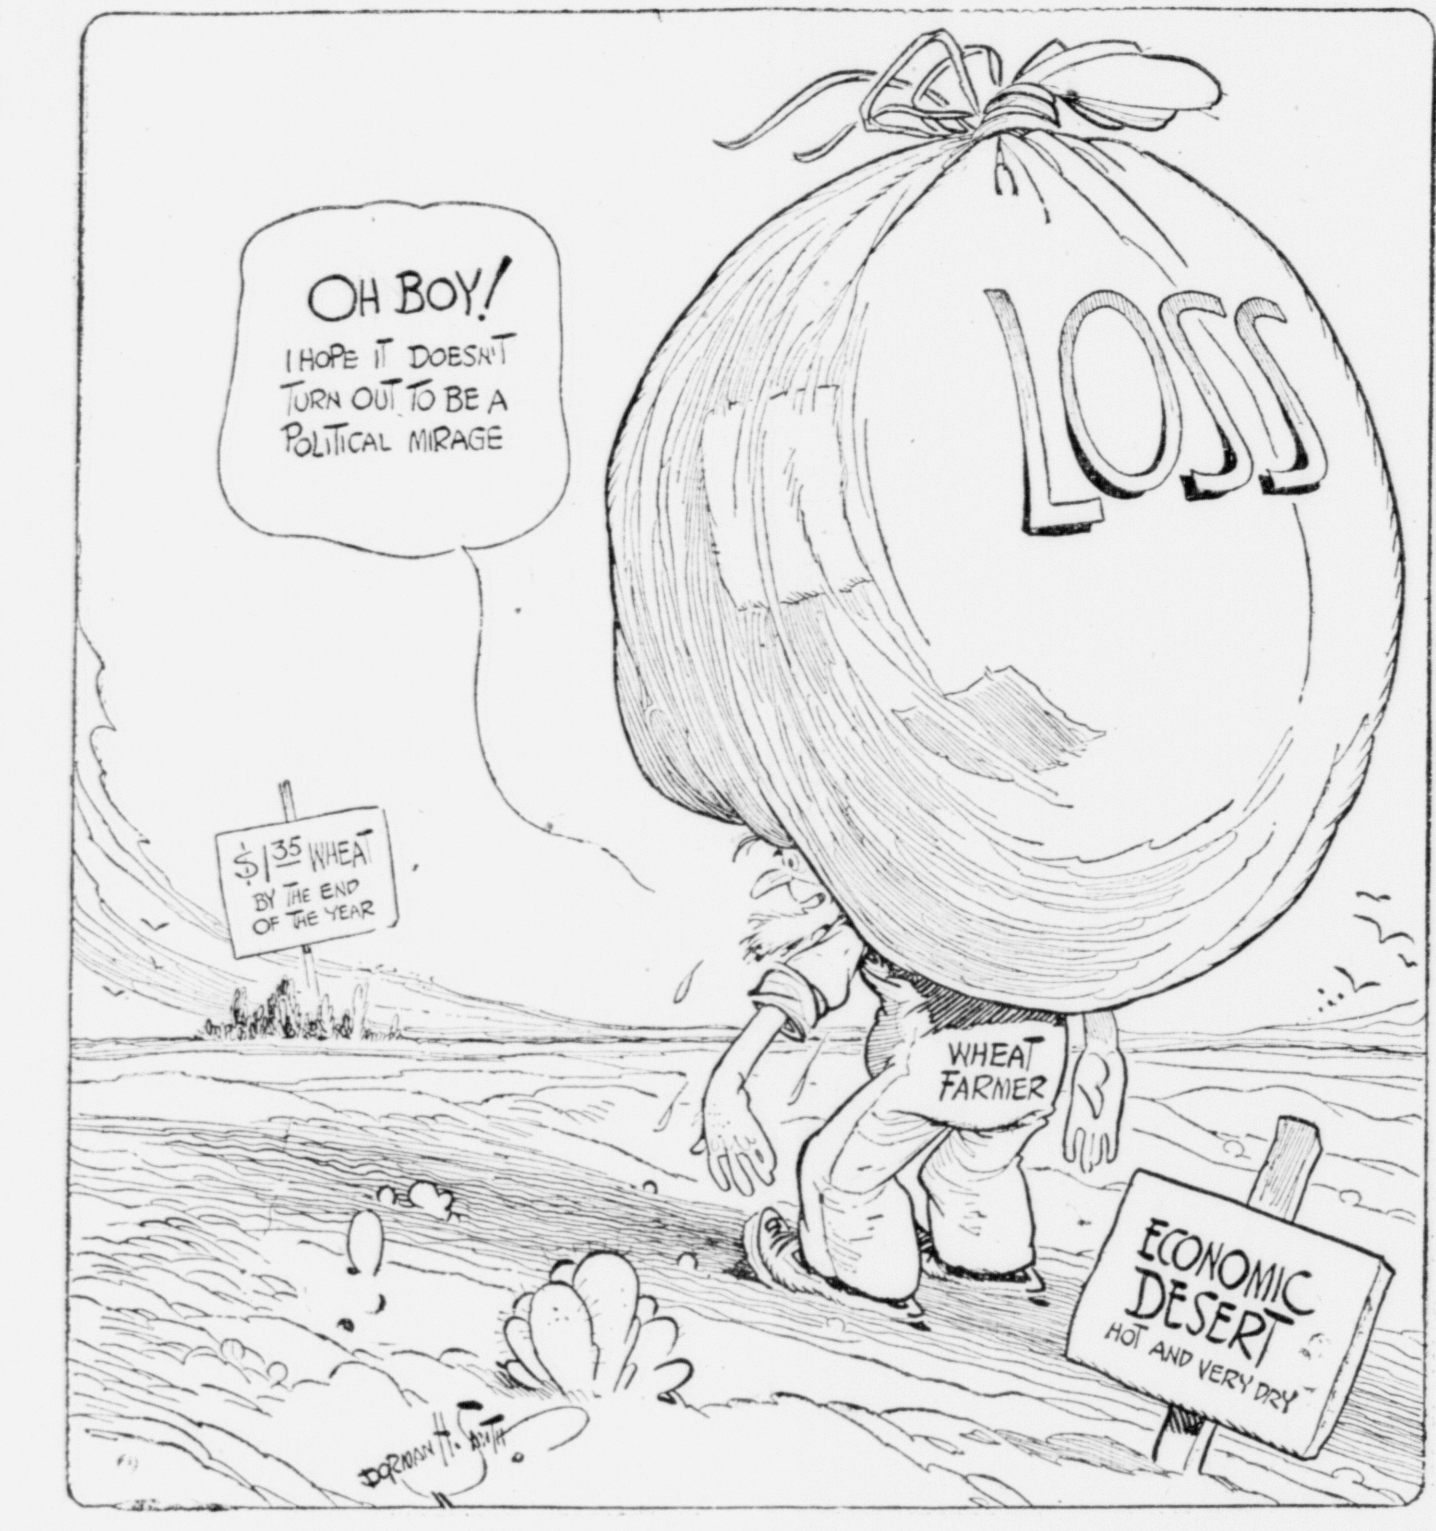

"Picture this death without the service of the daily paper. You never miss the water till the well goes dry," is aptly illustrated in the case of your home town newspaper.

"Now, the publication of a newspaper is really a manufacturing problem. Raw material, machinery and labor go into the production of a newspaper, just as they go into the manufacturing of any other commodity."

"There are only two principal differences, I believe. They are:

"The production of the average commodity requires merely factory labor. The production of a newspaper requires not only factory labor but also the reporter and editors, who really are on the production side of a newspaper. Of course, all manufacturing institutions require salesmen, office forces and administrative executives."

AN OASIS AT LAST

Boys Are Urged to Sign Up For Turkey Run Park Camp at Once

First Outing Period Opens Monday.
August 4 and Second One for Older
Boys Will be Held Last Two Weeks
of August. State Park Ideal Place
for Boys' Camp

Many boys who say they are going to the Rush county boys' camp, at Turkey Run state park next month, but have never signed up, are urged to do so at once, because the time is short.

The camp for the young boys, ranging in age from nine to twelve or thirteen years, will open Monday, August 4, and will continue for two weeks. The older boys' camp will be held the last two weeks of August.

D. R. Merrill of this city, who will be in charge of the camps, today submitted a brief description of the park, showing how attractive it really is and what an ideal place it provides for camping.

At the original entrance of Turkey Run State Park is a gate of massive construction—built in pioneer fashion of sassafras logs with the bark left on—fitted with adze and axe and held together with wooden pegs. Going through the gate one enters upon a plateau of several acres, where is situated the hotels and camping ground. This area is lawn. The largest hotel is situated in the midst of this grove. It is a large brick structure equipped with electric lights and running water. The first floor is given over to a large assembly room where hotel visitors and campers alike may rest, read and dance. For cool evening the hotel and cottage alike have a mammoth fireplace which invites a story telling circle.

To the northwest of the hotel the plateau runs out to a point, which

DISTRIBUTION BY AUDITOR

Checks Go Out Today to Rushville
School City and Townships, Giving
Them Their Share

More than half of the money raised in Rush county by the general school tax goes to the support of schools in other counties of Indiana. This fact is revealed in the distribution of the state school fund, Rush county's share of which was received Monday. Phil Wink the county auditor made the county distribution Monday afternoon and the township trustees and the Rushville school city received their share this morning.

Rush county sent to the state in the June distribution, the sum of $20,127.64 collected as state school tax and $3,558.47 of common school fund interest.

The county's share coming back from the state school fund was $10,010.83. The county also received $716.41 in congressional school fund interest, which is distributed semi-annually, but the basis of distribution is changed only every ten years.

The distribution is made on a per capita basis, which is arrived at by the number of persons of school age. This number this year was 4,624, of which 1,276 are in the city of Rushville.

Rushville received $2,851.92 as its share of the state school tax the remainder of $7,159.81 went to the townships.

PROSPERITY FOR FARMERS IS SEEN

Dawning for Wheat and Corn Growing States Due to Economic Reasons, Crop Expert Says

Factors Work Harmoniously
Basis for Advance in Wheat is
World-wide in Character—Supply
and Demand Figures

By EDWARD C. DEER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1924 by the U. P.)
Chicago, July 15—Prosperity is dawning for American farmers especially in the wheat and corn growing states, according to B. W. Snow, foremost crop expert and statistician. Present high grain prices are based on sound economic conditions and will continue to even higher levels, Snow declared today in an interview with the United Press. They are not caused by government or political manipulation, he said with emphasis.

The American wheat crop this year is only three-fourths the size of the 1923 crop, Snow estimated, and with small surplus stocks on hand, the law of supply and demand is certain to bring higher prices.

While Snow refused to estimate the increased value of this year's major crops, the financial district believes farmers will benefit to the extent of between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 over last year.

Snow, who as author of the B. W. Snow-Barthelme-Frazier Crop Reports has attained national distinction as an authority on crops and market conditions, said all factors in the grain trade were working harmoniously to bring better prices to the farmers.

"Advancing grain prices are based entirely upon an appreciation of the changing condition of supply and demand," he said.

"The grain markets are functioning naturally and the suggestion that they are caused by manipulation is fantastic nonsense."

"The basis for the advance in wheat is worldwide in character and represents an adjustment between supply and demand the world over. This year's crop in the United States is 720,000,000 bushels as compared with 786,000,000 bushels last year. The Canadian crop is only 250,000,000 as against 474,000,000 in 1923. With stocks far under early estimates, the world will face an alarming shortage and prices are certain to go up."

Snow said the grain markets are now operating with confidence and are in a position to function naturally.

"Grain prices would have advanced earlier," he said, "if the markets in this country had been in a position to function without the overhanging fear of government interference. Defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill in congress opened the way for immediate advances, based on the legitimate situation which the grain trade understood all along but in which its actions had been hampered by its unwillingness to enter a market in which the possibility of government manipulation of any kind was present."

"Our winter wheat crop is 40,000,000 bushel short of last year and current advances indicate spring wheat is losing ground rapidly because of the drought."

"Current and conservative information from Canada shows that the wheat crop in that country has been seriously damaged and in many sections almost destroyed by three months drought. The Canadian crop may not be half the size of last year."

"With these conditions affecting future supplies in two great countries of surplus production, it is going to take a high range of prices to curtail world consumption so that supply and demand may be balanced."

Speculators Clean Up

Chicago, July 15—Speculators in grains have cleaned up enormous sums of money on the side of rising prices, it was made known today in La Salle Street brokerage houses. One of the most successful "investors" is Arthur W. Cullen, owner of a huge farm some fifty miles south of Chicago, who is reputed to have made a profit of $1,500,000.

James A. Patten, who cornered the wheat market in 1910 and profited to the tune of $1,000,000.

New Treatment for Varicose or Swollen Veins.

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunched at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, wens and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

the extent of several million dollars and then lost huge sums in an unsuccessful effort to corner the cotton market, also is understood to have profited on the present rise in grains. Patten "invested" in oats.

Cutten admitted cashing in on his optimism.

"I felt all along that corn was worth more money," Cutten said. "So I bought and held on. Then I began selling at 84 cents and upward."

Cutten made a turnover of some 3,000,000 bushel of corn. Cash corn is selling at $1.13 here, within one cent of last year's record figure.

Cutten believes corn is due for still higher prices, because of the backward weather and other deterrent factors.

Patten was said to have taken on 2,000,000 bushels of oats at a time when everybody else was dumping. Patten has succeeded in selling all of the oats at prices much higher than he paid.

Other smaller "killings" also have been reported.

MOM'N POP

MOVIES

"The Plunderer" at Mystic

Played by a notable cast of screen performers, most of whom won enviable reputations on the stage, the William Fox screen version of "The Plunderer" from the story by Roy Norton, promises to be unique among film spectacles. The picture comes to the Mystic theatre today.

Frank Mayo has the principal role, with Evelyn Brent, Tom Sant- chi, James Mason, Peggy Shaw, Edward Phillips and Don Mason.

The story deals with a romance of the old mining days and is replete with incidents of intrigue and fast action. A flooded mine, realistic fights and similar action, are said to combine to make every foot of the film twelve inches of celluloid excitement.

"The Plunderer" was directed by George Archambaud, who recently completed the Fox production "The Shadow of the East."

Last Showing Tonight

The production made by Universal of Victor Hugo's immortal story, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," at the Castle theatre, has met with high favor, exceeding any big production within ready memory and promising a permanence most gratifying to all who have the welfare of the screen at heart. In massiveness and thoroughness this production is a revelation and gives truth to the pronouncement by able critics that it eclipses anything previously offered.

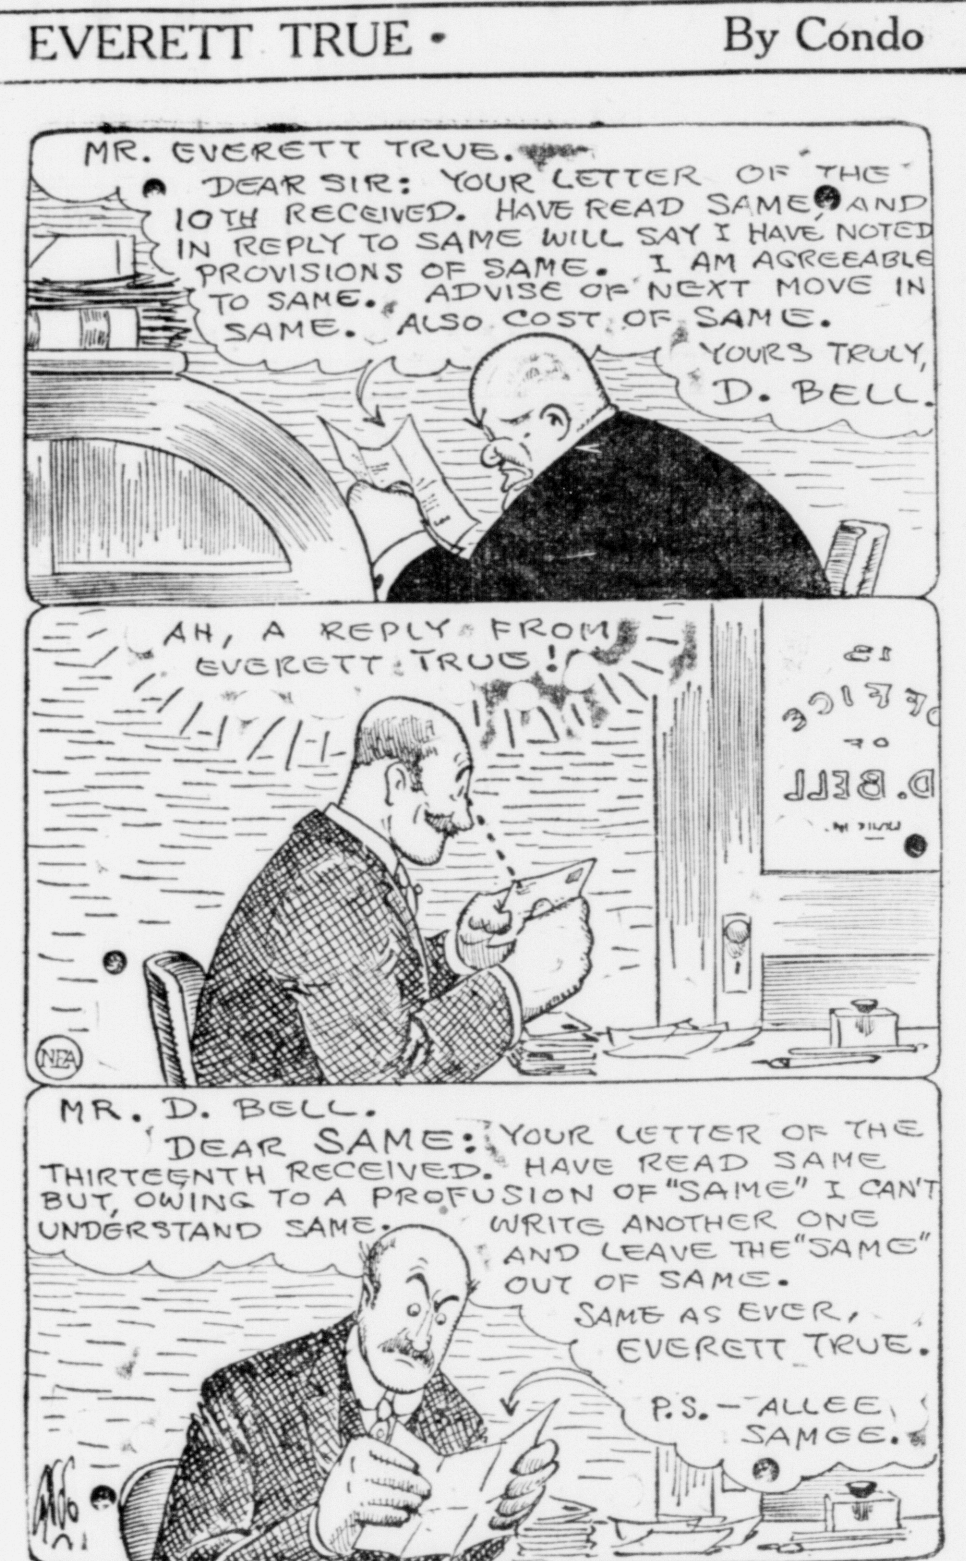

Hugo's story was charged with a dramatic power such as he only could wield. The period of the fifteenth century in France was one wherein drama filled to overflowing the daily lives of its people. The extremes in station of the Parisian people were wide as the poles. And the author's love of the banal in character building, together with his marvelous knowledge of human nature, resulted in the creation of characters that clash with almost unbelievable intensity.

He made "Quasimodo" a tremendous complex that while it was a dramatic triumph in shocking impressiveness was also clothed with a massive sympathy. If for nothing else, his story deserves true eminence through the drawing of this character. But master-mind that he was, he made this character a protagonist of a seething love romance centered in the affection of an adventurous soldier in the army of Louis XI for a little Gypsy dancing girl reared among the thieves of the Parisian underworld.

"Twenty One" At Princess

For the first time in his screen career as the hero of a motion picture Richard Barthelmess is stabbed in his latest First National offering, "Twenty-One," which is the popular attraction at the Princess theatre today.

Barthelmess portrays the role of Julian McCullough, a 19-year-old youth, who runs away from home to New York to wait until he becomes of age so that he may marry a poor girl to whom his wealthy parents object. In the city he gets a job as a taxicab driver and while thus engaged in earning his livelihood chances to pick up his own father as a fare. His father, carrying a large sum of money, has been singled out as the victim of a gang of thugs. Julian's suspicions are aroused by the men who met his father. After watching them enter a building in a disreputable section of the city he investigates. He sees that his father is being held up and, forcing his way inside, goes to his defense. In the struggle that follows one of the thugs stabs Julian, but before losing consciousness he gets to a telephone and summons the police. The thugs are all caught and the incident serves to bring about a happy culmination to the story.

TO RECEIVE BIDS JULY 22 FOR GRADING ROAD

Highway Commission States Grading Will be Preparatory to Paving Indianapolis Highway

TO BE FINEST IN STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15—The state highway commission will receive bids July 22 for grading Indianapolis highway from near Whiting to the Illinois line.

The grading, the commission announces will be preparatory to paving, the first indication that this long contemplated improvement at last is going to be made.

When paved, the road will be the widest and finest of the paved roads in the state. Two thirty foot wide strips of concrete running parallel and divided by a traction line will comprise the road. Ordinary paved roads are about eighteen feet wide.

This road takes the traffic of four Indiana and four Michigan trunk routes around the southern portion of Lake Michigan to the Illinois line. With the widened hard surface approach this part of Chicago suburban traffic problems will be solved in a measure.

Definite plans have been made by the commission to pave the north strip between now and December 1, when it expects to throw the road open to traffic. The south portion will probably be hard surfaced next spring.

Announcement of the commission's decision to pave the stretch was coupled with an announcement that in the future all road paving where possible will be done without closing the road to traffic.

THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scotat, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me. It has surely made our home a happy one."—Mrs. ROBERT PRICE, Scotat, via Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 93 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

The City Bond Issue

The state board of tax commissioners having refused to permit the city council to include in a proposed bond issue, a provision to raise money for the remodeling of the city building, there is reported to be some agitation locally for the council to start over again with a larger bond issue, which would be sufficient to provide funds for a new city building.

If the city council follows this advice, councilmen will be following after false gods. Those who are proposing this plan know full well that a bond issue of sufficient size to raise money for a new city hall, would never get by the state tax board.

The state board refused to permit

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus.

That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. will build them.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT.
NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK—Every cloud has its silver lining, even in politics.

The darker the clouds lowered over the Democratic contestants, wrangling to determine who, if anybody, should be nominated to carry forward the fight for freedom from Republican rule this fall, the brighter and more burnished became the silver sheen from the Republican side of the thunder cloud.

So bright, in fact, has the G. O. P. view of the political future become that about half the cabinet at Washington isn't even pretending to appear busy and important. And although Republican administration heads, for purposes of the campaign, aren't supposed to be interested in things European, or to recognize any angles of interest in foreign affairs, except such as may be seen from a distance, the first two members of the cabinet are actually shutting up their desks, turning the keys over to subordinates, and setting sail for that misadvised continent where the terrible League of Nations has its home.

So enchanting, indeed, does the political prospect appear to them, that even that international dragon inspires in them not the slightest fear.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, secretary of state, will follow the example of the Prince of Wales on his latest trip to America, and travel incognito, as it were.

The prince, you will remember, came among us last as plain Baron Renfrew. Hughes will attempt to shed his official identity as secretary of state and will travel simply as a member of the American Bar Association. For it is to attend the annual meeting of that organization, which will be held in London, that Hughes is, ostensibly, making the trip.

Just why the American Bar Association should meet abroad is not generally understood. It has been suggested that the reason lies in the fact that the bar is no longer a legal institution in the U. S. A., and the association, being strictly legal in character, is meeting where there is no bar to bars.

That, of course, is a pleasantry, but even at that may conceal a grain of truth. So far as Hughes is concerned, however, his participation is purely that of a vacationist. Anything he may pick up that will be helpful in guiding him as secretary of state, after he resumes that role, will be considered as clear profit.

THE second cabinet sailing for foreign parts, with his mind wiped free from worry as a result of the domestic differences of the Democrats, is Andy Mellon, secretary of treasury.

Having "cut a melon" for the country in his announcement last week that the treasury has on hand the greatest surplus in its history, Andy believes he can get away for a few months without the nation becoming bankrupt. Anyway, he's leaving it with a nice role of spending money to carry it over his absence.

So he's going to visit a Spa or two, relax for a while in a villa far removed from any senatorial committee room, and make the most of his present impression that the Democratic donkey can kick its head off without disturbing his seat at the cabinet table.

IN addition to cabinet officials, diplomatic representatives are bidding adieu to the U. S. A. for the hectic period of the campaign. Perhaps the most significant of these departures is that of Ambassador Hanihara, who returns to Japan to talk over the recent Japanese exclusion act.

obviously so attractive that it serves as a shield for those who wish to use it for ulterior purposes.

At the risk of being put down as an advocate of war, those who believe in our type of government should not hesitate to strike at this hydra-headed monster, disguised as pacifism, wherever it appears.

Time to be Cheerful

With the corn rapidly growing taller and the wheat giving promise of being a good crop this year, Rush county farmers should be wearing a broad smile.

But even more reason for optimism is the way the grain market has been acting. Corn has been selling above $1 a bushel and wheat is on a rising market.

Indications all point to a much more profitable year for farmers, not alone because of the higher prices for grain, but because of large reduction in the number of hogs raised, which means that Rush county's chief product is going to soar in price this fall.

FIFTEEN YEARS
AGO TODAYFrom Daily Republican
Thursday, July 15, 1909

It wasn't that man behind the gun that attracted attention at the Country Club yesterday afternoon at the weekly shoot of the Gun Club. It was the women crack shots. Four of Rushville's fair sex were present and being inspired and moved by the enthusiasm attending the shoot by the "men folks," they asked to try their hand at the game. The ladies first shot at clay pigeons, but—well they struck up a barrel out in the field and honestly, the women "putnear" hit that. In the quartette were Mrs. Norm Norris, Miss Harriet Caldwell and the Misses Elsa and Clara Bohannon.

Camp Gap-a-loit is the name. It is located in the back yard of Jesse Pugh's home—North Main street. Four promising young men are to sleep and do light housekeeping there for the next two weeks while the Pugh family is away on a vacation. The quartette consists of Clyde Early, Frank Lyons, Dick Hogsett and Guernsey Abernathy.

Thomas Crawford, up until two years ago a carrier boy for the Daily Republican, but who removed to Lawrenceburg Tenn., is now a school teacher there. He is but nineteen years of age, but a bright boy for one so young.

While riding home from the swimming hole on the back end of a gravel wagon yesterday evening, Harold, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Osborn, suffered a badly mashed leg and one broken bone. The wagon on which young Osborn, together with two other boys were riding, stopped suddenly and the second gravel wagon, which was following close behind, ran into it catching the boy's leg between the tongue and the endgate.

Lowell Moffatt of Center township had a narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday afternoon by the explosion of a blank cartridge set off as he was perched upon a fence.

Jesse Pugh, assistant cashier at the Rush County National Bank, is enjoying his summer vacation.

Miss Martha Hogsett entertained Tuesday evening, honoring Miss Elizabeth Haydon of Lexington, Ky., who is visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Haydon and family of Texas are expected to arrive Saturday to be the guests of Mrs. Haydon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Wilson in North Main Street.

Denning Havens has returned from a four weeks vacation in the east. He visited all the prominent cities and spent eight days in New York City.

Dick Wilson went to Indianapolis this morning. From there he will go to Terre Haute, where he will drive Lady Maude C. and Hedgewood Boy to the pole for the world's team record tomorrow.

Miss Jessie Kitchen entertained the Tri Kappas with a theatre party last night in honor of her guests, Misses Barbara Finney and Dorothy Cunningham of Martinsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Court Oldham and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Garland Newkirk.

Mrs. John Ellerman spent several days in Connersville, the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Emily Kiser is ill at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers went to Connersville Saturday evening on account of the illness of Mrs. Burton, formerly Miss Sylvia Myers.

The Ladies of the Sexton church cleared $20.51 at the exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson and family of Rushville spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will Case.

Mrs. Chase McCarty spent several days with her sister, Mrs. Wilbur Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Lawson and family spent Sunday in Knights-tem.

YALE CREW IN FIRST TEST

Americans Start as Favorites in
Boxing Contests And Score
Sweeping Tennis Victories

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, July 15—The big Olympic family party was as busy and as disorganized today as a yard full of school children.

With the husky Yale crew which is America's for Olympic purposes, meeting its first test on the Seine; boxing contests in which Americans are favorites starting at the Velodrome d'Hiver; Americans scoring sweeping victories at tennis almost before the nets were tight, and scullers and mermaids and modern panathalon entrants, striving to press their starry shields home ahead of contestants from some forty other nations, a "spectator" at the Olympic games today needed as many eyes as a Colorado potato.

Victories here and defeats there are coming so rapidly these days it is almost impossible to follow them.

The American doubles pair, Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, won at tennis today from Williams and Bailey, Australia, in straight sets 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. The dashing Seniors Alvarez of Spain, who yesterday put the little Brooklyn girl, Lillian Seharman, out of the women's singles advanced another step towards a meeting with Helen Wills by beating Miss Tolley of India, 6-0, 6-3.

Mamel Alonso, the Spanish star, who is a ranking player in the United States, defeated Robson, Argentine, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

In the rowing Yale was pitted against crews of Holland and Canada, neither of which was expected to produce any dangerous opposition. W. E. Garrett Gilmore of Philadelphia is favorite in the single sculls as a result of his victory over the English champion, Jack Beresford, Jr., winner of the diamond sculls.

The American girl swimmers, Misses Wainwright, Eberle and Norclius, have qualified for the final in the 400 meter free style event. Our men divers also are placed. In the 1,500 meter swim for men however, Adam Smith of Erie, and Richard Howell of Northwestern University, failed to qualify.

Virgil Barnes tossed airtight ball and the Giants had no trouble in winning from the Cubs 7 to 0.

Carlson effectively let down the Pirates and the Phillies won 8 to 3.

Yesterday's hero—George Herman Ruth himself who smashed out his 25th and 26th homers. The Yanks won the first from the Browns 7 to 3 but lost the second 9 to 4.

Won First U. S. Olympic Victory

George Taylor, Grinnell College, who captured the first American victory in a final Olympic event, when he won the 400-meter hurdles.

A GLANCE AT THE
RING AND DIAMOND

By FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 15—Fists have been flailing with such frequency this summer that every now and then one has to check up and see who really is who.

In the heavyweight ranks, we find one of our most (unconsciously) amusing young film actors still ensconced in the driver's seat. It looks as though Jack might remain quite a while at the top, if he doesn't develop Kleig eyes or get shot by somebody's chauffeur or some other terrible thing such as happens to heavyweight boxers.

Among the light-heavies, the world's champion still is Mike Tigue of Dublin. Now, Mike is a mighty fine broth of a lad, and his heart is as big as the sire of a barn, but he just hasn't the stuff whereof champions, even in this day and age, are made. Still, Mike has the title, and shows no disposition to give it up—which is what he is bound to do the first time he sets foot in the ring.

Harry Greb, bounding Pittsburgher, inveterate and veteran survivor of several hundred fights, took his title to Michigan City with him earlier this month.

Mickey Walker, popular young

Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, is figuring on taking on Benneh Leonard who has a crown of his own in the next lighter division. This, if and when it comes off, should be the battle of the year.

Kid Sullivan's junior lightweight title may have taken wings before this gets into print.

The veteran Johnny Dundee, who lost one of his titles in Brooklyn last month, is finding trouble in getting down to the featherweight limit, and may soon be out of things.

Abe Goldstein is being pursued by Joe Lynch, who wants a crack at the crown the Jewish boy won from him in the Garden last winter.

While among the little men, the brown-skinned Pancho Villa, although slowing perceptibly still looks as good as any of them.

So there haven't been so many changes after all, but the champs, with a couple of exceptions, are flitting with trouble—and fat purses.

There's something inelegant about the idea of Washington winning an American League pennant. For so many years, the Senators were the very foundation of the league, a sure fire eighth place team upon which all the others could depend when they sought to avoid the disgrace of the bottom of the ladder.

Washington didn't seem to mind, back in the old days. Now they want a pennant to float over the White House, with "American League Championship 1924" in prominent gold letters.

The Senators have threatened before, never perhaps as dangerously as this year. Their sudden mid-season spurt out into the van was the sensation of the June stretch.

Their time out in front may have done the Senators good, but there is always a great strain attached to being the league leader in the second half of the season.

With Ruth at The Bat

First game—First inning—singled to center.
Third inning—Safe on Sisler's error.
Fifth—Doubled to right.
Sixth—Struck out.
Eighth—Out on an infield play.
Second game—First inning—Walked.
Fourth inning—Out on an infield play.
Seventh—Twenty fifth homer to right field bleachers.
Eighth—Hit into right field bleachers for 26th homer.

The Athletics came from behind in the ninth and tied the score and three hits in the tenth gave them a 5 to 1 victory over Detroit.

The veteran Faber, despite a bit of wildness held the Red Sox to four measly flouts while the White Sox were amassing a six to two victory.

The Washington Senators made their third straight victory when they handed Cleveland a 12 to 0 thrashing.

ANNUAL GOLF TOURNEY SOON

Ft Wayne Prepares to Take Care of
Heavy Entry List

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 15—They're pushing back the trees around the Ft. Wayne Country Club golf course preparatory for the holding of the annual mens' state golf tournament which begins Aug. 4.

One of the largest entry lists in the history of the tourney is expected to tee off in the qualifying play.

Some of the dark horses who to show very well in the meet last year are being discounted because of their performances and as a result many formidable youngsters are expected to furnish the high lights.

Eddie Zimmer, present champion will defend his title. Among the promising youngsters expected are Bixler of Lafayette and Sharts of Logansport, a pair that put up a great match last year.

KINSEY'S WIN THE DOUBLES

(By United Press)

St. Louis, Mo., July 15—With this year's tournament at Triple A Club here finished, the national clay court tennis championship cup today are resting in the bags of their accustomed owners.

Big Bill Tilden of Philadelphia has the singles championship for the ninth straight year. He defeated Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles, yesterday in three sets, 6-2, 6-1, and 6-1.

Tilden attempted with his phenomenal 17-year-old protege from Philadelphia, "Sandy" Wiener, to wrest the doubles championship from the Pacific coast, but failed. Howard and Robert Kinsey, San Francisco, brothers, showing a perfect teamwork, defeated Tilden and Wiener in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5 and 6-3.

Wiener's playing was the sensation of the tournament. Although it was by concentrating their attack on the boy that the Kinseys won, his court play was fast and accurate. His serve now leaves much to be desired, but Tilden has high hopes of the boy's landing among the first ten before many years.

Leo Dickerson gained revenge on the Dodgers who let him go several weeks ago when he pitched Brooklyn into submission and the Cards won 12 to 0.

Cloud Cloth

THE man who buys an Eagle Shirt of Cloud Cloth will probably tell you it's the lightest, thinnest, strongest, smoothest shirting he ever wore. It has an aristocratically dull finish; a real silk feel to the skin, and an eye-proof closeness of weave. Tailored in the Eagle way, with long full body cut and a six-button full-length center-plait. A fine cloth beautifully tailored. White only.

The scarf sleeve is the interesting feature of this frock and is one that could easily be copied. It consists merely of a length of crepe applied to the under portion of a very short sleeve. The collar on this imported frock fastens in the back and a double girdle keeps the lines very trim about the hips.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

DISCUSSES HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

cutives. "The selling problem of the newspaper is somewhat different from that of the average product, in that there are two selling forces on a newspaper. The manufacturer produces an automobile and sells an automobile. The newspaper produces a newspaper and the circulation department sells the newspaper. The principal selling staff, however, sells a by-product of the newspaper, namely, advertising space.

"Since newspaper publishing is a manufacturing industry, there are manufacturing costs that largely determine the revenue that must be obtained. Increased costs in the average manufacturing plant are reflected in the price of the product. That is not the case with the average newspaper as the subscription price usually does not increase. The great by-product of the newspaper, advertising space, being the principal source of revenue, must carry production costs, and a fair manufacturing profit.

"Here are some of the manufacturing costs that go into a page advertisement in a paper like The Indianapolis News.

"The white paper alone, at the mill, costs about $106.00 for one full page advertisement (one side of one sheet of paper for about 135,000 circulation.) In addition, there is a heavy freight, drayage and storage charge, due to the bulkiness of white paper and the distance from which it must be shipped. Insurance must be carried on this white paper and a sufficient stock carried for emergencies, such as railroad strikes, mill strike, etc. This means invested capital.

"The 'factory workers' in a newspaper plant must be above the average in intelligence, as their work, for the most part, requires a reasonably good education, and a considerable period of training. As a result, the wages of the factory workers in a newspaper plant are above the average for manufacturing institutions. The cost of composing, stereotyping and printing a page advertisement is considerably more than people realize. Any commercial printer will say that composing room time including labor and overhead, costs between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour per person.

"The ink bill, alone, is a considerable item for a newspaper.

"The cost of getting and assembling the news of the day is high. Reporters, re-write men, feature writers, cartoonists, department heads, etc., aggregate a considerable payroll. The speed with which news must be handled requires tremendous telephone, telegraph and cable charges. It costs real money to cover the world with news service, but this is required in order to develop the circulation and reader interest that is essential to effective advertising results. All of these things, therefore, are necessary costs in producing advertising space.

"General overhead costs are a big item—rent, light, heat, maintenance of equipment, administrative executives, general office force, etc.

"All of these things are production costs. In addition, there is the legitimate cost of selling advertising space and the necessary cost of selling circulation and of giving service to subscribers. The circulation service requires large expenditures for transportation of newspaper.

"The publication of a newspaper probably requires the expenditure of a larger proportion of gross revenue for the payment of production costs than does any other manufacturing industry. The man who buys white space buys more, both in cost of production and in potential returns, than he realizes."

"Your newspaper publisher ought to merit your united support," Mr. Ellis asserted. "He makes no money from his subscribers. He must pay his bills, and the advertisers must, if they want their own town to prosper, and their business to grow, support the one agency that was built for this purpose.

"Show me a town with a progressive, live, up to date newspaper and I'll show you the same kind of a town. Show me a newspaper that is struggling to meet paper bills and pay roll, and I'll show you a slow, backward, don't give a darn town. It makes no difference if you subscribe to an Indianapolis newspaper in Rushville, you owe allegiance of loyalty to your city you can show best by subscribing and advertising in your home town paper.

"Show me an article in any town for two cents that represents the investment, time, labor and thought that is shown in the daily newspaper here.

"And right here I wish to point out the value of the country press. Here in your town is a newspaper earnestly striving to give you the local news of your town and county. These newspapers are free and untainted by influences that tend to color and distort the news. They can't get by with it if they wanted to. You live close together, you are neighbors together. The aspirations of your basket ball team are the hopes of the entire town. An untruth is known before it is published. But in the large centers with its conflicting hopes and ideals, its politics, its Tea Pot parties, the chances for receiving colored news and views are far greater."

"I do not know the advertising rate of the Rushville paper, but whatever it is, it's too low. The advertiser will never pay the newspaper the full value for the service rendered. Try putting your advertising message on one of Uncle Sams postal cards and mailing it to the total number of families represented by the circulations of your local papers. Then tell me if newspaper advertising is expensive. If they tried this in Indianapolis the card alone exclusive of addressing and printing would cost $1350. For this amount a local merchant could buy over three full page advertisements.

"You realize, of course, the time-liness of newspaper advertising; how it can be started and stopped over night; how it fits into the needs of the business and general public; whether you want to sell a pig, buy a home, rent a garage, buy a washing machine, or any of the thousands of articles or services of our modern day living."

101 Cents Worth of Gasoline in Your 1923 Dollar

As compared with the 1913 dollar, the dollar of 1923 bought 101 cents worth of gasoline, while it bought only 51.8 cents worth of clothing, 69 cents worth of shoes, 61.2 cents worth of rent, 68.5 cents worth of food, 45 cents worth of frame building, 53.4 cents worth of furniture and house furnishings, 46.3 cents worth of brick building, or 73.5 cents worth of farm crops. (National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.)

Gasoline is more than low in price. It is lower in price than almost any other essential commodity in general use.

This state of affairs has not "just happened." The fact that the 1923 dollar will buy more gasoline than the 1913 dollar could purchase is due largely to intelligent work and efficient organization by the leaders of the petroleum industry in general, and, so far as the Middle West is concerned, to the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

In a recent interview, President Coolidge stated that "It was right for men to organize, and the ends of society were best served by organization, provided the organization was for service."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is emphatically an organization for service. From the very acquisition of the crude oil, to the last drop of gasoline run into your tank at a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) filling station, every thought, effort and act of this Company is bent toward giving the best service to the consumer.

This "best" service necessarily includes a low price. And the price of gasoline made by this Company has been perennially low, (both absolutely, and in comparison with other commodities) over a long period of time.

But price is only one angle of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service. It is the comprehensive facilities provided by this Company, embracing a complete cycle of service, which increases the purchasing power of your 1923 gasoline dollar over and above the 1913 gasoline dollar.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has anticipated automotive development. It has created great, modern refineries. It has trained a loyal and efficient body of employees. It has erected great storage depots to hold reserves of gasoline during the off-season against the period of rush demand. It has built an almost endless chain of service stations.

As a result, today you are able to fill up your gasoline tank at will, anywhere and everywhere, with uniformly dependable gasoline of high quality, at prices persistently and consistently low.

FUTURE OF BOND ISSUE TO COME UP

City Council Tonight Will Decide
What Steps Should Be Taken
After Tax Board Ruling

SUM DEMANDED CUT IN TWO

Not Believed that State Board Would
Approve Bond Issue to Erect New
City Building

The future disposition of the bond issue will be taken up tonight at the regular meeting of the city council, following the decision of the state board of tax commissioners Saturday, when they reduced the proposed issue more than one-half.

The city councilmen had expected to obtain $30,000 for improvements, including $12,000 for a fire pump, $5,000 for repairs on the city hall, and the balance for other proposed expenditures, including the payment of notes borrowed from the banks.

The decision of the tax board granted $14,500 approving the purchase of the fire truck and allowing money for the laying of a water line from the mill race to the business district to be used in case of fire down town.

The council has been considering the proposition of completely tearing down the city hall, and issuing a bond sale to cover the expense of building a new city hall and city office building to house the various departments.

A building such as they would need, could not be erected for less than $50,000 or $75,000, and probably a bigger fight than ever would be launched against it. If the council expects to take such action, they would drop the present bond issue and embody the expenditure all in one.

The contention of persons acquainted with the status of the affair, is that the council had better accept the decision of the state tax board now, and issue the bonds for $14,500, remodel the building from money in the general fund so that the building can be made safe, and then in some future time make the appeal for a new building.

Although the state tax board in their opinion stated that it was throwing $5,000 away to repair the city hall, yet it does not mean that they would approve the bond issue for a new building. The ruling of the board might reverse itself if the city attempted to build a new building, and then nothing would be left to show for the legal fight.

Some of the councilmen, it is understood, are ready tonight to go through with the $14,500 bond issue, buy the new fire truck, make the minor repairs to accommodate the truck, and let the future troubles take care of themselves, which after all is believed to be the logical position to take in the matter.

TIMELY AID SAVES LOCAL BOY'S LIFE

Curtis Jones Sinks Three Times at
McCoy's Lake Before Being Rescued
by Companions

WENT IN FOR LAST "DIP"

Timely aid by two unknown heroes saved Curtis Jones of Rushville from being the first victim of drowning at Lake McCoy Sunday, according to the Greensburg News. The paper says regarding the near tragedy as follows:

Jones in company with two other companions, had been visitors at the resort all day and had been swimming during the afternoon. His companions had previously gone to the locker room and Jones was left in the water for a last "dip" before coming out.

It is thought that the young man suddenly took the cramps and he immediately sank. He went down three times before help reached him. Two small boys aiding him until the boat which was hastily summoned could reach the strangled boy.

Resuscitating work was immediately applied by a doctor from Cincinnati who happened to be present and it was twenty minutes before the water was removed from the lungs and Jones regained consciousness.

DISCUSSES HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

Tracy Ellis of Indianapolis News
Says That It Is Taken Too Much
For Granted

A MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

Tells Rotarians of Country Press
Value—James Lowry Speaks Briefly
on Landscaping

The home town newspaper is taken too much for granted, Tracy Ellis of the advertising department of the Indianapolis News, told the Rotary club at the noonday luncheon today.

"We grew up with them," he said, "but suppose no newspapers would come to or be printed in Rushville tomorrow," and Mr. Ellis then pictured what the conditions would be without newspapers.

Other guests at the meeting were James Lowry, a member of the Indianapolis Rotary club Frank Cannon of Greencastle and William Sparks of this city.

Mr. Lowry, who is an expert at landscaping, in a brief talk presented some of the elements in beautifying homes with shrubbery and flowers. He also gave the Rotarians some valuable information regarding the development of lawns.

If we are going to know our community, we must know what is going on and be alert, Mr. Ellis said.

"Fortunately for us," he continued, "there is an agency that gathers and procures for our minds the happenings of mankind in all of his phases of life and offers this information to us daily or weekly in the form of the Home Town Newspaper.

"We take our newspapers for granted—we grew up with them—but suppose tomorrow no newspapers would come or be printed in Rushville and the day after and for a month no news would reach your city. Some of you would be in a nervous state, possibly in financial difficulty, you wouldn't know very much to talk about and the day of the group around the corner grocery would receive and flourish. Go down in the backwoods of Kentucky and ask the first ten men you meet who is the President of the United States. Their answers will be replies of people without newspapers.

"A week ago a boy in Washington became very sick with an infected blister on his foot and in three days he was dead. His father was President of our country and on account of the father's high position, the news agencies and the newspapers played it up heavy. One hundred and ten million people knew that evening that Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was dead. They knew it in California before he was dead in Washington. News beat the flight of the sun. Over fifty thousand messages of sympathy followed the news of this death to that sorrowing White House.

"Picture this death without the service of the daily paper. You never miss the water till the well goes dry," is aptly illustrated in the case of your home town newspaper.

"Now, the publication of a newspaper is really a manufacturing problem. Raw material, machinery and labor go into the production of a newspaper, just as they go into the manufacturing of any other commodity.

"There are only two principal differences, I believe. They are: 'The production of the average commodity requires merely factory labor. The production of a newspaper requires not only factory labor but also the reporter and editors, who really are on the production side of a newspaper. Of course, all manufacturing institutions require salesmen, office forces and administrative executives."

AN OASIS AT LAST

Boys Are Urged to Sign Up For Turkey Run Park Camp at Once

First Outing Period Opens Monday,
August 4 and Second One for Older
Boys Will Be Held Last Two Weeks
of August. State Park Ideal Place
for Boys' Camp

Many boys who say they are going to the Rush county boys' camps at Turkey Run state park next month, but have never signed up, are urged to do so at once, because the time is short.

The camp for the young boys, ranging in age from nine to twelve or thirteen years, will open Monday, August 4, and will continue for two weeks. The older boys' camp will be held the last two weeks of August.

D. R. Merrell of this city, who will be in charge of the camps, today submitted a brief description of the park, showing how attractive it really is and what an ideal place it provides for camping.

At the original entrance of Turkey Run State Park is a gate of massive construction—built in pioneer fashion of sassafras logs with the bark left on—fitted with adze and axe and held together with wooden pegs. Going through the gate one enters upon a plateau of several acres, where is situated the hotels and camping ground. This area is lawn. The largest hotel is situated in the midst of this grove. It is a large brick structure equipped with electric lights and running water. The first floor is given over to a large assembly room where hotel visitors and campers alike may rest, read and dance. For cool evening the hotel and cottage alike have a mammoth fireplace which invites a story telling circle.

To the northwest of the hotel the plateau runs out to a point, which is caused by Turkey Run Hollow on the left and Sugar Creek on the right. Here, high above the water, one may look down over Sugar Creek to where it disappears in the west. The sunset viewed from this point is awe-inspiring in its beauty and grandeur.

Situated on this point is a splendid specimen of pioneer cabin which nestles at the foot of a sturdy oak. It is one of the oldest of its kind in the State. The logs are all hewed with only axes and adzes, some of them 30 feet long and 3 feet wide. The door casings and huge mantel are all made from black walnut. The fireplace and chimney are wonderful examples of the old pioneer days. Many pioneer farming and household utensils are to be found on the inside.

Descending the plateau on the right hand side the visitors enter the ravine known as Lovers' Lane. High canon walls and many large trees are the most interesting features of this winding lane which leads to the swinging bridge. The bridge is anchored in the solid rock. On the south side a concrete tower supports the cables which are carried on to a 50 ton base of concrete.

Crossing the bridge we enter Rocky Hollow the most spectacular canon in the park. It is here we will begin the trip in tomorrow's paper.

DISTRIBUTION BY AUDITOR

Checks Go Out Today to Rushville
School City and Townships, Giving
Them Their Share

More than half of the money raised in Rush county by the general school tax goes to the support of schools in other counties of Indiana.

This fact is revealed in the distribution of the state school fund, Rush county's share of which was received Monday. Phil Wilk the county auditor made the county distribution Monday afternoon and the township trustees and the Rushville school city received their share this morning.

Rush county sent to the state in the June distribution, the sum of $20,127.64 collected as state school tax and $3,558.47 of common school fund interest.

The county's share coming back from the state school fund was $10,010.83. The county also received $716.41 in congressional school fund interest, which is distributed semi-annually, but the basis of distribution is changed only every ten years.

The distribution is made on a per capita basis, which is arrived at by the number of persons of school age. This number this year was 4,624, of which 1,276 are in the city of Rushville.

Rushville received $2,851.02 as its share of the state school tax the remainder of $7,159.81 went to the townships.

The enumeration in each school division and the amount received of the school tax is as follows:

PROSPERITY FOR FARMERS IS SEEN

Dawning for Wheat and Corn Growing States Due to Economic Reasons, Crop Expert Says

FACTORS WORK HARMONIOUSLY

Basis For Advance in Wheat is
World-wide in Character—Supply
and Demand Figures

By EDWARD C. DERR
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1924 by the U. P.)

Chicago, July 15—Prosperity is dawning for American farmers especially in the wheat and corn-growing states, according to B. W. Snow, foremost crop expert and statistician.

Present high grain prices are based on sound economic conditions and will continue to even higher levels, Snow declared today in an interview with the United Press. They are not caused by government or political manipulation, he said with emphasis.

The American wheat crop this year is only three-fourths the size of the 1923 crop, Snow estimated, and with small surplus stocks on hand, the law of supply and demand is certain to bring higher prices.

While Snow refused to estimate the increased value of this year's major crops, the financial district believes farmers will benefit to the extent of between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 over last year.

Snow, who as author of the B. W. Snow-Barlett-Frazier Crop Reports has attained national distinction as an authority on crops and market conditions, said all factors in the grain trade were working harmoniously to bring better prices to the farmers.

"Advancing grain prices are based entirely upon an appreciation of the changing condition of supply and demand," he said.

"The grain markets are functioning naturally and the suggestion that they are caused by manipulation is fantastic nonsense."

"The basis for the advance" in wheat is worldwide in character and represents an adjustment between supply and demand the world over.

This year's crop in the United States is 720,000,000 bushels as compared with 786,000,000 bushels last year. The Canadian crop is only 250,000,000 as against 474,000,000 in 1923. With stocks far under early estimates, the world will face an alarming shortage and prices are certain to go up."

Snow said the grain markets are now operating with confidence and are in a position to function naturally.

"Grain prices would have advanced earlier," he said, "if the markets in this country had been in a position to function without the overhanging fear of government interference. Defeat of the McNary-Hagen bill in congress opened the way for immediate advances, based on the legitimate situation which the grain trade understood all along but in which its actions had been hampered by its unwillingness to enter a market in which the possibility of government manipulation of any kind was present."

"One winter wheat crop is 40,000,000 bushel short of last year and current advices indicate spring wheat is losing ground rapidly because of the drought."

"Current and conservative information from Canada shows that the wheat crop in that country has been seriously damaged and in many sections almost destroyed by three months drought. The Canadian crop may not be half the size of last year. With these conditions affecting future supplies in two great countries of surplus production, it is going to take a high range of prices to curtail world consumption so that supply and demand may be balanced."

Speculators Clean Up

Chicago, July 15—Speculators in grains have cleaned up enormous sums of money on the side of rising prices, it was made known today in La Salle Street brokerage houses. One of the most successful "investors" is Arthur W. Cutten, owner of a huge farm some fifty miles south of Chicago, who is reputed to have made a profit of $1,500,000.

James A. Patten, who cornered the wheat market in 1910 and profited to the tune of $1,000,000, is also reported to have made a profit of $1,500,000.

New Treatment for Varicose or Swollen Veins.

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and hunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, wens and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

the extent of several million dollars and then lost huge sums in an unsuccessful effort to corner the cotton market, also is understood to have profited on the present rise in grains. Patten "invested" in oats.

Cutten admitted cashing in on his optimism.

"I felt all along that corn was worth more money," Cutten said. "So I bought and held on. Then I began selling at 84 cents and upward."

Cutten made a turnover of some 3,000,000 bushels of corn. Cash corn is selling at $1.13 here, within one cent of last year's record figure.

Cutten believes corn is due for still higher prices, because of the backward weather and other deterrent factors.

Patten was said to have taken on 2,000,000 bushels of oats at a time when everybody else was dumping. Patten has succeeded in selling all of the oats at prices much higher than he paid.

Other smaller "killings" also have been reported.

Lafayette—in unusual operation was performed at a hospital here when physicians removed a safety pin from the stomach of Eugene Whiteaker, 22 months old.

"Twenty One" At Princess

For the first time in his screen career as the hero of a motion picture Richard Barthelmess is stabbed in his latest First National offering, "Twenty-One," which is the popular attraction at the Princess theatre today.

Barthelmess portrays the role of Julian McCullough, a 19-year-old youth, who runs away from home to New York to wait until he becomes of age so that he may marry a poor girl to whom his wealthy parents object. In the city he gets a job as a taxicab driver and while thus engaged in earning his livelihood chances to pick up his own father as a fare. His father, carrying a large sum of money, has been singled out as the victim of a gang of thugs. Julian's suspicions are aroused by the men who met his father. After watching them enter a building in a disreputable section of the city he investigates. He sees that his father is being held up and, forcing his way inside, goes to his defense. In the struggle that follows one of the thugs stabs Julian, but before losing consciousness he gets to a telephone and summons the police. The thugs are all caught and the incident serves to bring about a happy culmination to the story.

"The Plunderer" at Mystic

Played by a notable cast of screen performers, most of whom won enviable reputations on the stage, the William Fox screen version of "The Plunderer" from the story by Roy Norton, promises to be unique among film spectacles. The picture comes to the Mystic theatre today.

Frank Mayo has the principal role, with Evelyn Brent, Tom Santchi, James Mason, Peggy Shaw, Edward Phillips and Don Mason.

The story deals with a romance of the old mining days and is replete with incidents of intrigue and fast action. A flooded mine, realistic fights and similar action, are said to combine to make every foot of the film twelve inches of celluloid excitement.

"The Plunderer" was directed by George Archambaud, who recently completed the Fox production "The Shadow of the East."

Last Showing Tonight

The production made by Universal of Victor Hugo's immortal story, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," at the Castle theatre, has met with high favor, exceeding any big production within ready memory and promising a permanence most gratifying to all who have the welfare of the screen at heart. In massiveness and thoroughness this production is a revelation and gives truth to the pronouncement by able critics that it eclipses anything previously offered.

Hugo's story was charged with a dramatic power such as he only could wield. The period of the fifteenth century in France was one wherein drama filled to overflowing the daily lives of its people. The extremes in station of the Parisian people were wide as the poles. And the author's love of the banal in character building, together with his marvelous knowledge of human nature, resulted in the creation of characters that clash with almost unbelievable intensity.

He made "Quasimodo" a tremendous complex that while it was a dramatic triumph in shocking impressiveness was also clothed with a massive sympathy. If for nothing else, his story deserves true eminence through the drawing of this character. But master-mind that he was, he made this character a protagonist of a seething love romance centered in the affection of an adventurous soldier in the army of Louis XI for a little Gypsy dancing girl reared among the thieves of the Parisian underworld.

"Twenty One" At Princess

For the first time in his screen career as the hero of a motion picture Richard Barthelmess is stabbed in his latest First National offering, "Twenty-One," which is the popular attraction at the Princess theatre today.

Barthelmess portrays the role of Julian McCullough, a 19-year-old youth, who runs away from home to New York to wait until he becomes of age so that he may marry a poor girl to whom his wealthy parents object. In the city he gets a job as a taxicab driver and while thus engaged in earning his livelihood chances to pick up his own father as a fare. His father, carrying a large sum of money, has been singled out as the victim of a gang of thugs. Julian's suspicions are aroused by the men who met his father. After watching them enter a building in a disreputable section of the city he investigates. He sees that his father is being held up and, forcing his way inside, goes to his defense. In the struggle that follows one of the thugs stabs Julian, but before losing consciousness he gets to a telephone and summons the police. The thugs are all caught and the incident serves to bring about a happy culmination to the story.

TO RECEIVE BIDS JULY 22 FOR GRADING ROAD

Highway Commission States Grading Will be Preparatory to Paving Indianapolis Highway

TO BE FINEST IN STATE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 15—The state highway commission will receive bids July 22 for grading Indianapolis highway from near Whitling to the Illinois line.

The grading, the commission announces will be preparatory to paving, the first indication that this long contemplated improvement at last is going to be made.

When paved, the road will be the widest and finest of the paved roads in the state. Two thirty foot wide strips of concrete running parallel and divided by a traction line will comprise the road. Ordinary paved roads are about eighteen feet wide.

This road takes the traffic of four Indiana and four Michigan trunk routes around the southern portion of Lake Michigan to the Illinois line. With the widened hard surface approach this part of Chicago suburban traffic problems will be solved in a measure.

Definite plans have been made by the commission to pave the north strip between now and December 1, when it expects to throw the road open to traffic. The south portion will probably be hard surfaced next spring.

Announcement of the commission's decision to pave the stretch was coupled with an announcement that in the future all road paving where possible will be done without closing the road to traffic.

TO GET WEEDS CUT

Warsaw, Ind. July 15—The city council at its next meeting will adopt an ordinance for the assessment of fines against property owners who fail to obey the order of the chief of police to cut obnoxious weeds on their premises. The work was done by city employees and the cost assessed against the respective properties in former years.

THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scotat, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me. It has surely made our home a happy one."—Mrs. ROBERT PRICE, Scotat, via Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 93 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

Furnish no fuel:—Where no wood, is there the fire gets out; so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceaseth.—Proverbs 26:20.

The City Bond Issue

The state board of tax commissioners having refused to permit the city council to include in a proposed bond issue, a provision to raise money for the remodeling of the city building, there is reported to be some agitation locally for the council to start over again with a larger bond issue, which would be sufficient to provide funds for a new city building.

If the city council follows this advice, councilmen will be following after false gods. Those who are proposing this plan know full well that a bond issue of sufficient size to raise money for a new city hall, would never get by the state tax board.

The state board refused to permit

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus.

That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. will build them.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

You can always find different grades of quality in whatever you buy, whether it is food, clothes, etc., or workmanship. However, it is only the best in everything that creates satisfaction. You get the best workmanship and materials when you bring your car here and you'll be well pleased with the results.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT.
NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK—Every cloud has its silver lining, even in politics. The darker the clouds lowered over the Democratic contestants, wrangling to determine who, if anybody, should be nominated to carry forward the fight for freedom from Republican rule this fall, the brighter and more burnished became the silver sheen from the Republican side of the thunder cloud.

So bright, in fact, has the G. O. P. view of the political future become that about half the cabinet at Washington isn't even pretending to appear busy and important. And although Republican administration heads, for purposes of the campaign, aren't supposed to be interested in things European, or to recognize any angles of interest in foreign affairs, except such as may be seen from a distance, the first two members of the cabinet are actually shutting up their desks, turning the keys over to subordinates, and setting sail for that misguided continent where the terrible League of Nations has its home.

So enchanting, indeed, does the political prospect appear to them, that even that international dragon inspires in them not the slightest fear.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, secretary of state, will follow the example of the Prince of Wales on his latest trip to America, and travel incognito, as it were.

The prince, you will remember, came among us last as plain Baron Renfrew. Hughes will attempt to shed his official identity as secretary of state and will travel simply as a member of the American Bar Association. For it is to attend the annual meeting of that organization, which will be held in London, that Hughes is, ostensibly, making the trip.

Just why the American Bar Association should meet abroad is not generally understood. It has been suggested that the reason lies in the fact that the bar is no longer a legal institution in the U. S. A., and the association, being strictly legal in character, is meeting where there is no bar to bars.

That, of course, is a pleasant, but even at that may conceal a grain of truth. So far as Hughes is concerned, however, his participation is purely that of a vacationist. Anything he may pick up that will be helpful in guiding him as secretary of state, after he resumes that role, will be considered as clear profit.

THE second cabinet sailing for foreign parts, with his mind wiped free from worry as a result of the domestic differences of the Democrats, is Andy Mellon, secretary of treasury.

Having "cut a melon" for the country in his announcement last week that the treasury has on hand the greatest surplus in its history, Andy believes he can get away for a few months without the nation becoming bankrupt. Anyway, he's leaving it with a nice role of spending money to carry it over his absence.

So he's going to visit a Spa or two, relax for a while, in a villa far removed from any senatorial committee room, and make the most of his present impression that the Democratic donkey can kick its head off without disturbing his seat at the cabinet table.

IN addition to cabinet officials, diplomatic representatives are bidding adieu to the U. S. A. for the hectic period of the campaign. Perhaps the most significant of these departures is that of Ambassador Hanihara, who returns to Japan to talk over the recent Japanese exclusion act.

At the risk of being put down as an advocate of war, those who believe in our type of government should not hesitate to strike at this hydra-headed monster, disguised as pacifism, wherever it appears.

Time to be Cheerful

With the corn rapidly growing taller and the wheat giving promise of being a good crop this year, Rush county farmers should be wearing a broad smile.

But even more reason for optimism is the way the grain market has been acting. Corn has been selling above $1 a bushel and wheat is on a rising market.

Indications all point to a much more profitable year for farmers, not alone because of the higher prices for grain, but because of large reduction in the number of hogs raised, which means that Rush county's chief product is going to soar in price this fall.

FIFTEEN YEARS
AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican
Thursday, July 15, 1909

It wasn't that man behind the gun that attracted attention at the Country Club yesterday afternoon at the weekly shoot of the Gun Club. It was the women crack shots. Four of Rushville's fair sex were present and being inspired and moved by the enthusiasm attending the shoot by the "men folks," they asked to try their hand at the game. The ladies first shot at clay pigeons, but—well they struck up a barrel out in the field and honestly, the women "putnear" hit that. In the quartette were Mrs. Norm Norris, Miss Harriet Caldwell and the Misses Elsa and Clara Bohannon.

Camp Gap-a-lott is the name. It is located in the back yard of Jesse Pugh's home—North Main street. Four promising young men are to sleep and do light housekeeping there for the next two weeks while the Pugh family is away on a vacation. The quartette consists of Clyde Barry, Frank Lyons, Dick Hogsett and Guernsey Abernathy.

Thomas Crawford, up until two years ago a carrier boy for the Daily Republican, but who removed to Lawrenceburg Tenn., is now a school teacher there. He is but nineteen years of age, but a bright boy for one so young.

While riding home from the swimming hole on the back end of a gravel wagon yesterday evening, Harold, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Osborn, suffered a badly mashed leg and one broken bone. The wagon on which young Osborn, together with two other boys were riding, stopped suddenly and the second gravel wagon, which was following close behind, ran into it catching the boy's leg between the tongue and the endgate.

YALE CREW IN FIRST TEST

Americans Start as Favorites in
Boxing Contests And Score
Sweeping Tennis VictoriesBy HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, July 15—The big Olympic family party was as busy and as disorganized today as a yard full of school children.

With the husky Yale crew which is America's for Olympic purposes, meeting its first test on the Seine; boxing contests in which Americans are favorites starting at the Velodrome d'Hiver; Americans scoring sweeping victories at tennis almost before the nets were tight, and scullers and rowers and modern pentathalon entrants striving to press their starry shields home ahead of contestants from some forty other nations, a "spectator" at the Olympic games today needed as many eyes as a Colorado potato.

Victories here and defeats there are coming so rapidly these days it is almost impossible to follow them.

The American doubles pair, Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, won at tennis today from Williams and Bailey, Australia, in straight sets 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. The dashing Senior Alvarez of Spain, who yesterday put the little Brooklyn girl, Lillian Scherman, out of the women's singles advanced another step towards a meeting with Helen Wills by beating Miss Tolley of India, 6-0, 6-3.

Mannel Alonzo, the Spanish star, who is a ranking player in the United States, defeated Robson, Argentine, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

In the rowing Yale was pitted against crews of Holland and Canada, neither of which was expected to produce any dangerous opposition. W. E. Garrett Gilmore of Philadelphia is favorite in the single sculls as a result of his victory over the English champion, Jack Beresford, Jr., winner of the diamond sculls.

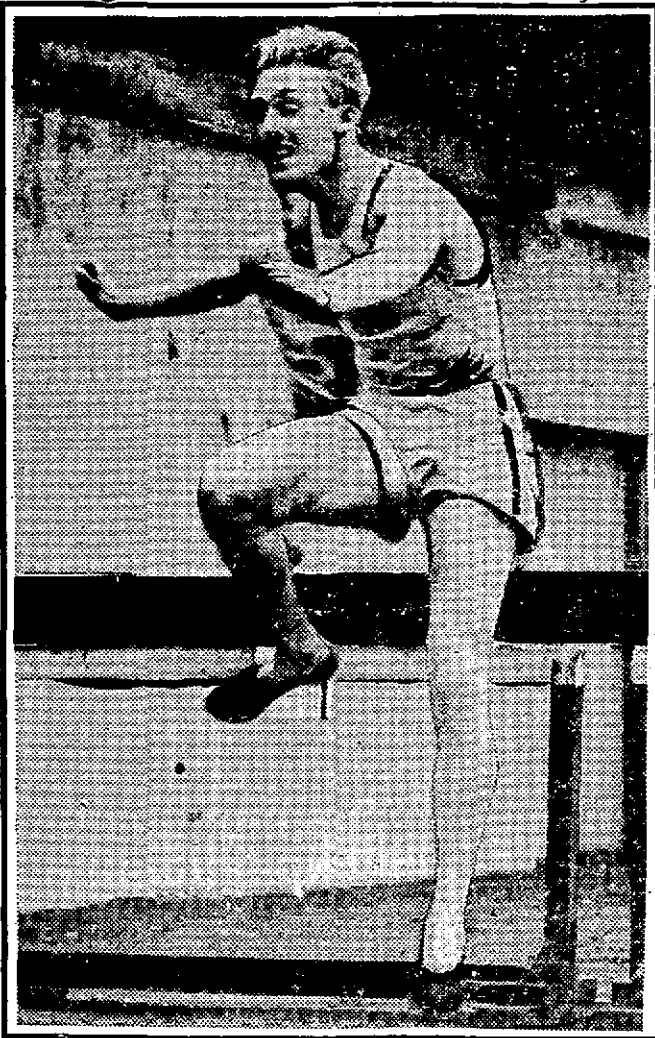

The American girl swimmers, the Misses Wainwright, Eberle and Norclius, have qualified for the final in the 400 meter free style event. Our men divers also are placed. In the 1,500 meter swim for men however, Adam Smith of Erie, and Richard Howell of Northwestern University, failed to qualify.

Virgil Barnes tossed airtight ball and the Giants had no trouble in winning from the Cubs 7 to 0.

Carlson effectively let down the Pirates and the Phillies won 3 to 3.

Yesterday's hero—George Herman Rath himself who smashed out his 25th and 26th homers. The Yanks won the first from the Browns 7 to 3 but lost the second 9 to 4.

Won First U. S. Olympic Victory

George Taylor, Grinnell College, who captured the first American victory in a final Olympic event, when he won the 400-meter hurdles.

A GLANCE AT THE
RING AND DIAMONDBy FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 15—Fists have been flailing with such frequency this summer that every now and then one has to check up and see who really is who.

In the heavyweight ranks, we find one of our most (unconsciously) amusing young film actors still ensconced in the driver's seat. It looks as though Jack might remain quite a while at the top, if he doesn't develop Kleig eyes or get shot by somebody's chauffeur or some other terrible thing such as happens to heavyweight boxers.

Among the light-heavyweights, the world's champion still is Mike McTigue of Dublin. Now, Mike is a mighty fine brother of a lad, and his heart is as big as the sire of a barn, but he just hasn't the stuff whereof champions, even in this day and age, are made. Still, Mike has the title, and shows no disposition to give it up—which is what he is bound to do the first time he sets foot in the ring.

Harry Greb, bounding Pittsburgher, inveterate and veteran survivor of several hundred fights, took his title to Michigan City with him earlier this month.

Mickey Walker, popular young

Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, is figuring on taking on Bennet Leonard who has a crown of his own in the next lighter division. This, if and when it comes off, should be the battle of the year.

Kid Sullivan's junior lightweight title may have taken wings before this gets into print.

The veteran Johnny Dundee, who lost one of his titles in Brooklyn last month, is finding trouble in getting down to the featherweight limit, and may soon be out of things.

Abie Goldstein is being pursued by Joe Lynch, who wants a crack at the crown the Jewish boy won from him in the Garden last winter.

While among the little men, the brown-skinned Pancho Villa, although showing perceptibly still looks as good as any of them.

So there haven't been so many changes after all, but the champs, with a couple of exceptions, are flitting with trouble—and fat purses.

There's something incongruous about the idea of Washington winning an American League pennant. For so many years, the Senators were the very foundation of the league, a sure fire eighth place team upon which all the others could depend when they sought to avoid the disgrace of the bottom of the ladder.

Washington didn't seem to mind, back in the old days. Now they want a pennant to float over the White House, with "American League Championship 1924" in prominent gold letters.

The Senators have threatened before, never perhaps as dangerously as this year. Their sudden mid-season spurt out into the van was the sensation of the June stretch.

Their time out in front may have done the Senators good, but there is always a great strain attached to being the league leader in the second half of the season.

Fifth—Doubled to right.

Second game—First inning—Walked.

The Athletics came from behind in the ninth and tied the score and three hits in the tenth gave them a 3 to 1 victory over Detroit.

The veteran Faber, despite a bit of wildness held the Red Sox to four measly glouts while the White Sox were amassing a six to two victory.

The Washington Senators made their third straight victory when they handed Cleveland a 12 to 0 trouncing.

ANNUAL GOLF TOURNEY SOON

Ft Wayne Prepares to Take Care of
Heavy Entry List

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 15—They're pushing back the trees around the Ft. Wayne Country Club golf course preparatory for the holding of the annual mens' state golf tournament which begins Aug. 4.

One of the largest entry lists in the history of the tourney is expected to tee off in the qualifying play.

Some of the dark horses who to show very well in the meet last year are being discounted because of their performances and as a result many formidable youngsters are expected to furnish the high lights.

Eddie Zimmer, present champion will defend his title. Among the promising youngsters expected are Bixler of Lafayette and Sharts of Logansport, a pair that put up a great match last year.

BILL TILDEN WINS FOR

Championship Safely Tucked

KINSEY'S WIN THE DOUBLES

(By United Press)

St. Louis, Mo., July 15—With this year's tournament at Triple A Club here finished, the national clay court tennis championship cup today are resting in the bags of their accustomed owners.

Big Bill Tilden of Philadelphia has the singles championship for the ninth straight year. He defeated Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles, yesterday in three sets, 6-2, 6-1, and 6-1.

Tilden attempted with his phenomenal 17-year-old protege from Philadelphia, "Sandy" Wiener, to wrest the doubles championship from the Pacific coast, but failed. Howard and Robert Kinsey, San Francisco, brothers, showing a perfect teamwork, defeated Tilden and Wiener in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5 and 6-3.

Wiener's playing was the sensation of the tournament. Although it was by concentrating their attack on the boy that the Kinseys won, his court play was fast and accurate. His serve now leaves much to be desired, but Tilden has high hopes of the boy's landing among the first ten before many years.

Leo Dickerson gained revenge on the Dodgers who let him go several weeks ago when he pitched Brooklyn into submission and the Cards won 12 to 0.

101 Cents Worth of Gasoline in Your 1923 Dollar

As compared with the 1913 dollar, the dollar of 1923 bought 101 cents worth of gasoline, while it bought only 51.8 cents worth of clothing, 60 cents worth of shoes, 61.2 cents worth of rent, 68.5 cents worth of food, 45 cents worth of frame building, 53.4 cents worth of furniture and house furnishings, 46.3 cents worth of brick building, or 73.5 cents worth of farm crops. (National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.)

Gasoline is more than low in price. It is lower in price than almost any other essential commodity in general use.

This state of affairs has not "just happened." The fact that the 1923 dollar will buy more gasoline than the 1913 dollar could purchase is due largely to intelligent work and efficient organization by the leaders of the petroleum industry in general, and, so far as the Middle West is concerned, to the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

In a recent interview, President Coolidge stated that "It was right for men to organize, and the ends of society were best served by organization, provided the organization was for service."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is emphatically an organization for service. From the very acquisition of the crude oil, to the last drop of gasoline run into your tank at a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) filling station, every thought, effort and act of this Company is bent toward giving the best service to the consumer.

This "best" service necessarily includes a low price. And the price of gasoline made by this Company has been perennially low, (both absolutely, and in comparison with other commodities) over a long period of time.

But price is only one angle of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service. It is the comprehensive facilities provided by this Company, embracing a complete cycle of service, which increases the purchasing power of your 1923 gasoline dollar over and above the 1913 gasoline dollar.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has anticipated automotive development. It has created great, modern refineries. It has trained a loyal and efficient body of employees. It has erected great storage depots to hold reserves of gasoline during the off-season against the period of rush demand. It has built an almost endless chain of service stations.

As a result, today you are able to fill up your gasoline tank at will, anywhere and everywhere, with uniformly dependable gasoline of high quality, at prices persistently and consistently low.

The scarf sleeve is the interesting feature of this frock and is one that could easily be copied. It consists merely of a length of crepe applied to the under portion of a very short sleeve. The collar on this imported frock fastens in the back and a double girdle keeps the lines very trim about the hips.

DISCUSSES HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

The selling problem of the newspaper is somewhat different from that of the average product, in that there are two selling forces on a newspaper. The manufacturer produces an automobile and sells an automobile. The newspaper produces a newspaper and the circulation department sells the newspaper. The principal selling staff, however, sells a by-product of the newspaper, namely, advertising space.

Since newspaper publishing is a manufacturing industry, there are manufacturing costs that largely determine the revenue that must be obtained. Increased costs in the average manufacturing plant are reflected in the price of the product. That is not the case with the average newspaper as the subscription price usually does not increase. The great by-product of the newspaper, advertising space, being the principal source of revenue, must carry production costs, and a fair manufacturing profit.

Here are some of the manufacturing costs that go into a page advertisement in a paper like The Indianapolis News.

The white paper alone, at the mill, costs about $106.00 for one full page advertisement (one side of one sheet of paper for about 135,000 circulation.) In addition, there is a heavy freight, drayage and storage charge, due to the bulkiness of white paper and the distance from which it must be shipped. Insurance must be carried on this white paper and a sufficient stock carried for emergencies, such as railroad strikes, mill strike, etc. This means invested capital.

The "factory workers" in a newspaper plant must be above the average in intelligence, as their work, for the most part, requires a reasonably good education, and a considerable period of training. As a result, the wages of the factory workers in a newspaper plant are above the average for manufacturing institutions. The cost of composing, stereotyping and printing a page advertisement is considerably more than people realize. Any commercial printer will say that composing room time including labor and overhead, costs between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour per person.

The ink bill, alone, is a considerable item for a newspaper.

The cost of getting and assembling the news of the day is high. Reporters, re-write men, feature writers, cartoonists, department heads, etc., aggregate a considerable payroll. The speed with which news must be handled requires tremendous telephone, telegraph and cable charges. It costs real money to cover the world with news service, but this is required in order to develop the circulation and reader interest that is essential to effective advertising results. All of these things, therefore, are necessary costs in producing advertising space.

General overhead costs are a big item—rent, light, heat, maintenance of equipment, administrative executives, general office force, etc.

All of these things are production costs. In addition, there is the legitimate cost of selling advertising space and the necessary cost of selling circulation and of giving service to subscribers. The circulation service requires large expenditures for transportation of newspaper.

The publication of a newspaper probably requires the expenditure of a larger proportion of gross revenue for the payment of production costs than does any other manufacturing industry. The man who buys white space buys more, both in cost of production and in potential returns, than he realizes.

to merit your united support," Mr. Ellis asserted. "He makes no money from his subscribers. He must pay his bills, and the advertisers must, if they want their own town to prosper, and their business to grow, support the one agency that was builded for this purpose."

"Show me a town with a progressive, live, up to date newspaper and I'll show you the same kind of a town. Show me a newspaper that is struggling to meet paper bills and pay roll, and I'll show you a slow, backward, don't give a darn town. It makes no difference if you subscribe to an Indianapolis newspaper in Rushville, you owe allegiance of loyalty to your city you can show best by subscribing and advertising in your home town paper."

"Show me an article in any town for two cents that represents the investment, time, labor and thought that is shown in the daily newspaper here."

"And right here I wish to point out the value of the country press. Here in your town is a newspaper earnestly striving to give you the local news of your town and county. These newspapers are free and untainted by influences that tend to color and distort the news. They can't get by with it if they wanted to. You live close together, you are neighbors together. The aspirations of your basket ball team are the hopes of the entire town. An untruth is known before it is published. But in the large centers with its conflicting hopes and ideals, its politics, its Tea Pot parties, the chances for receiving colored news and views are far greater."

"I do not know the advertising rate of the Rushville paper, but whatever it is, it's too low. The advertiser will never pay the newspaper the full value for the service rendered. Try putting your advertising message on one of Uncle Sam's postal cards and mailing it to the total number of families represented by the circulations of your local papers. They tell me if newspaper advertising is expensive. If they tried this in Indianapolis the card alone exclusive of addressing and printing would cost $1350. For this amount a local merchant could buy over three full page advertisements."

"You realize, of course, the time-liness of newspaper advertising; how it can be started and stopped over night; how it fits into the needs of the business and general public; whether you want to sell a pig, buy a home, rent a garage, buy a washing machine, or any of the thousands of articles or services of our modern day living."
